Senior Housing Weekly:
Recap of LeadingAge Updates

August 7, 2020

HUD announces October restart of physical inspections - On August 7th, HUD announced that the agency will resume Real Estate Assessment Center (REAC) inspections of HUD multifamily and public housing properties in early October. HUD had halted physical inspections on March 13th due to health concerns; the agency said it will utilize strict safety protocols to restart operations. According to HUD’s press release, standard 14-day physical inspection notifications to owners will resume no earlier than September 21st, 2020, with the first inspections resuming on or about Monday, October 5th. Inspections will be prioritized based on a state or locality’s COVID-19 rates, as well as on the property’s previous scores. More information will be available here.

New NSPIRE Inspection Standards; HUD to join LeadingAge call - HUD released fully updated inspection standards for the NSPIRE demonstration program, which are used in HUD’s current, two-year demonstration program to evaluate the physical condition of properties. Based on feedback from stakeholders, HUD has adjusted technical accuracy, relevance, and clarity of standards. HUD continues to accept feedback on the standards, which will eventually replace the current REAC standards across the MFH portfolio; staff from HUD’s Real Estate Assessment Center will join the LeadingAge August 17th Housing Advisory Group call to answer questions and provide updates on the status of the physical inspection pilot program during COVID-19. To join the call or submit advance questions, email jbilowich@leadingage.org.

COVID-19 Supplemental Payment Requests due to HUD – Housing providers reimbursement requests for COVID-19 expenses under the CARES Act were due to HUD on August 5th. HUD may review requests received by August 12th if funding suffices. More information available here and here.

HUD is requesting that owners report any incidents of resident injury, displacement, or property damage by completing the Preliminary Disaster Assessment (PDA) and submitting it to northeast.disaster.recovery@hud.gov (unaffected... owners do not need to submit the assessment). HUD has also recommended that owners get the most up-to-date information about the Tropical Storm from the National Hurricane Center and the FEMA Hurricane Readiness webpage.
